~~Account of the inspection of Materials~~
Relating to the autopsy of President John F. Kennedy
The National Archives
October 31, 1966

At ~~about~~ 9:45 a.m., October 31, 1966, in room 6W3 of the National Archives Building in Washington, D.C., a footlocker containing the unpublished film of the autopsy of the estate of President John F. Kennedy, ~~was~~ delivered to the custody of the United States certain materials relating to the autopsy of the late President. The materials were in a footlocker that had previously been delivered to the National Archives by representatives of Senator Robert F. Kennedy for ~~safe~~ purposes of secure storage. ~~The~~ At the time the contents were not known to officials of the National Archives and Records Service, the footlocker was locked, and the key was retained by representatives of Senator Robert F. Kennedy, and its contents were not known to officials of the National Archives and Records Service.

The footlocker was opened in the presence of Burke Marshall, Miss Angela Novello, secretary to Senator

Mr. Marshall to ~~the~~ Hon. Lawson B. Knott, Jr., Administrator of General Services, dated October 29, 1966, which constituted a deed of gift of title and other materials from the estate of John F. Kennedy to the Government of the United States.

Robert F. Kennedy; Frank M. Wozencraft, Assistant Attorney General; Harold F. Reis, Executive Assistant to the Attorney General; Robert K. Baker, Archivist of the United States; James B. Rhoads, Deputy Archivist of the United States; Herman Kahn, Assistant Archivist for Presidential Libraries; and William E. H. Brewster, Assistant to the General Counsel, General Services Administration. Immediately after the opening of the [illegible] Robert Baker, Marie Hamilton and Wozencraft discussed and those remaining inspected its contents.